

LIQUID COMPASS COO NAMED ONE OF RADIO INK'S 50 MOST INFLUENTIAL WOMEN IN RADIO

DENVER (Oct. 19, 2009) – Liquid Compass, a premier streaming delivery network to the radio industry, announced that Chief Operating Officer Amy Van Hook has been named one of “50 Most Influential Women in Radio” by Radio Ink, a bi-weekly, radio-industry trade publication. Radio Ink annually publishes its list of women who according to readers have distinguished themselves in the industry.

“I’m both surprised and honored to have been named to this year’s list,” Van Hook said. “It’s a privilege to be working alongside other women in our industry who are helping shape the face of radio for the future.”

A 20-year radio-industry veteran, Van Hook helps guide Liquid Compass’ day-to-day operations, new product development and client relationship management. Her radio career began on the broadcast side where she worked as on-air talent, promotions director and producer. Subsequently she served as group director of interactive marketing for Susquehanna Radio Co., and more recently as director of digital operations for Entercom Communications.

“Radio Ink’s annual list of Most Influential Women reads like a veritable Who’s Who in the industry,” said Zackary Lewis, Liquid Compass CEO. “Having Amy named to the list of women who either own or work for some of the most recognized names in radio broadcasting is a testament to her accomplishments and reputation among her peers.”
